FOSCARINI

Twenty years after the birth of Lumiere, one of Foscarini's most famous products, Lumiere XXL and XXS are born. A product that has been completely redesigned, according to its new proportions and to its specific use compared to the "historical" Lumiere. The tripod is still made of metal but has a more decisive feel and a new lacquered finish, while the blown glass diffuser has also acquired a new geometry. When placed on a desk or table, Lumiere XXL and XXS characterise the entire space around it, by combining different colours for the tripod and the diffuser, so that it changes both style and personality.

All black or all white, white and gold, black and gold or white and black... it always has a balanced, elegant presence that is important but never ostentatious and is based on the contrast between hot and cold and between the technology of metal and the craftsmanship of blown glass.
